

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments..... ix

Introduction: Falling Off the Molly Mormon Pedestal

The truth and nothing but the truth..... 1

My Seven Confessions

1. God and His Tattletale Angels

Learning to understand and love Heavenly Father..... 9

I confess that I felt no love for God.

Today I rejoice in my deep love for God, and for His amazing love for each of His children.

2. The Iron Rod as a Weapon of Self-Destruction

Using the scriptures to help me keep my change of heart 23

I confess that I resented the scriptures.

Today I rejoice and rejoice in the gift of the scriptures!

3. Cold Floors and Aching Knees

Making prayer a pleasure 39

I confess that my prayers were mostly a matter of routine.

Today I rejoice in the strength and peace prayer brings to my life.

4. You Can Watch Johnny Lingo Only So Many Times

Allowing the Sabbath to fulfill its divine purpose..... 53

I confess that I dreaded Sundays.

Today I rejoice in the gift of the Sabbath day.

5. Let the Hunger Pains Begin

Finding joy in observing the fast God has chosen 69

I confess that fasting mostly meant just going hungry.

Today I rejoice in fasting as a pathway to freedom and oneness with God.

6. Even My Hosanna Shout Wasn't Good Enough

Discovering the treasures of temple worship 83

I confess that I found the temple confusing and boring.

Today I rejoice in the sweet influence the temple brings to my life.

7. Neighbors—Who Needs Them?

Joyfully sharing God's love 97

I confess that the commandment to love your neighbor seemed impossible.

Today I gratefully rejoice in the love that constantly pours into my life.

Conclusion: I Glory in My Jesus!

From wretched to rejoicing 115

Appendix 125

Notes 171